5 (See) Submd & ad 7/7

6 I think the 900 £ included passage money both ways. One item making up the 900 £ is "Passage money & expenses on arrival 100 £" The passage costs about 708 Rs each way - ie 1416 Rs or £94-8 & the balance of 5 £ is apparently meant for as extra pocket money till going at Oxford -

My interpretation is further borne out by my letter No 1265 of 3rd August 10 addressed to the Comptr vide copy enclosed

Mr Narayen Rao's own accounts show that he has had to spend £114 for the purposes mentioned above

The amount spent on Mr Ramayengar for his Oxford course was £1110 plus £708 for the return passage 21 mile thus be seen that Mr Narayen Rao has cost us £210 less

As Narayen Rao has to engage his passage without more I beg that the matter be treated as urgent
